Vicki Jasper
Strategic business partner providing thought leadership to influence and shape marketing and IT demands

December 14, 2020, Vicki worked with Regina L. in different groups

I had the privilege of working with Regina on a project within our organization. I found her to be extremely detailed oriented, very professional, and an excellent communicator. Regina enjoys learning and helping others learn new technology and new ways of working. With her excellent project management and communication skills she was easily able to take complex ideas and communicate them in a manner that the rest of the team understood. Her efforts led to a very successful project rollout for the team. I would consider Regina an asset on any team and hope to work with her again in the near future.

Foundation and WorldVentures Holdings teams. I found her to be a congenial individual with a high degree of professionalism and an unwavering commitment to her craft. Her engaging personality, thirst for knowledge and willingness to step outside her comfort zone to accept new challenges made her an asset. Highly experienced across a myriad of media platforms, yet completely devoid of ego, she graciously accepted constructive feedback as an opportunity to learn and grow. Not one to slack or entertain negativity, Regina kept her head down and hit every deadline amid considerable organizational changes and challenges. Meanwhile, she championed her teammates and leaders, pointing out their achievements and uplifting them in every way possible. I highly recommend Regina.

To Whom It May Concern:

I reconnected with Regina Burns at a health fair, not remembering that we connected earlier in my career as a restaurateur at the Dining Table in Oak Cliff. She reminded me that she requested the delicious recipe for my Spicy Black-Eye Peas after seeing me on television in 2003. After that amazing encounter, I hired Regina to assist me with setting up a blog on my new website effective press releases to promote my cookbooks and holiday entertaining. Her media relations work ultimately landed me back on live television in Dallas. On January 6, 2017, I cooked my Spicy Vegan Potato Curry on KDFW-TV's "Good Day" show. What a blessing! I look forward to her assisting me again as I continue to grow my brand.

(www.chefcassandra.com). Additionally, she wrote

Finding Regina was one of my favorite highlights of 2016. She was an exceptional partner in my campaign to break the Guinness World Record for the world's largest furniture refinishing workshop (single venue). Her multiple, timely, detailed professionally formatted press releases not only landing me an amazing spot on the biggest morning news station in Dallas, but they also propelled me into multitudes of both print and online publications including but not limited to D-Magazine, Guide Live, The Dallas Observer, Focus on Faux, Celina Record and The Frisco Enterprise. Some of the publications also ran follow up stories AFTER the event. Regina Burns, owner of Harvest Reapers planted seeds of excitement before the event, during and after through her constant, relentless professional communication with the right people in all avenues of media. Her personal relationships with Channel 8 and the Associated Press were invaluable and only outweighed by her ability to communicate in writing her meticulous research, interviews and 1st-hand experience in news. Regina went above and beyond the call of duty by accompanying me to my news appearance and the day of the event all while keeping me calm, cool and collected with her insightful advice. Thank you, Regina. Sorry for any delay in writing this much deserved review! If you have ANYTHING in your business or personal life that you would like plastered in every nook and cranny of news, Regina is your girl. She is gets the job DONE!
